Cancellations within 10 business days of the seminar are not eligible for a refund. All cancellations must be made in writing and can be e-mailed (cfl@ut.edu) or faxed (813) 258-7236.

TO REGISTER:
By phone: (813) 257-3782
By fax: (813) 258-7236
By Mail: Center for Leadership | 401 W. Kennedy Blvd., Ste A-7 | Tampa, FL 33602-1408

Please type or print the following information. (Please use one copy of this form for each enrolee.)

Name ___________________________ Title ___________________________
Organization ___________________________ Name ___________________________
City ___________________________ State ___________ Zip ___________
E-mail ____________________________________________________________

SEMINAR FEE
$2,995 per person for Emerging Leaders (Level II)
$3,295 per person for Experienced Leaders (Level III)

REGISTRATION — LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT CERTIFICATES
For Senior or Mid-Level Executives Preparing For Advanced Leadership Roles
Emerging Leaders (Level II), June 6–9
 Experienced Leaders (Level III), June 27–30

Make check payable to University of Tampa.
Credit Card: MasterCard | Visa
Certification's Signature __________________________________________________________________________

This program will sharpen the abilities of leaders by focusing on the development of leadership competencies and skills and introducing them to the latest research, vocabulary, and strategy.
In contemporary studies, we see leadership as an influence difficult to study empirically and in an ongoing process without power relations, requiring bargaining after giving up our own power to others. The historical leadership involves a focus on five primary components. Such leadership is being widely studied because social movements toward positive purposes that are inclusive of people in the process of leadership, in which the leader is ethical, is significant, and recognizes the needs of leaders in the community as a whole. The college and university level, where developing future leaders in new and unique social contexts for leadership development (GED) is often employed. The GED focuses on the most widely used theoretical model in college student development. The TAMU leadership program is a purposeful, collaborative, value-based process that results in leadership development and competency. Tribal leaders are leading the field in this area. The individual, the group, and the society/community are all involved. An Evolution of Leadership Studies Theories This semester we presented a seminar to the college faculty, and the field has been systematically examined for over 150 years. The question is, “What is leadership?” Consider the word “leadership”? Consider what it means for the word “leadership” to have impacted their leadership development, and how we can benefit from these opportunities. Currently, there are 145 graduate-level leadership studies programs in the U.S. Another 73 universities offer baccalaureate and master’s degrees in leadership. Leadership has taken on the added dimension of leadership development as a discipline, and the most widely used theoretical model in college student development is the TAMU leadership program. The leadership program is a purposeful, collaborative, value-based process that results in leadership development and competency. Tribal leaders are leading the field in this area. The individual, the group, and the society/community are all involved. An Evolution of Leadership Studies Theories This semester we presented a seminar to the college faculty, and the field has been systematically examined for over 150 years. The question is, “What is leadership?” Consider the word “leadership”? Consider what it means for the word “leadership” to have impacted their leadership development, and how we can benefit from these opportunities. Currently, there are 145 graduate-level leadership studies programs in the U.S. Another 73 universities offer baccalaureate and master’s degrees in leadership. Leadership has taken on the added dimension of leadership development as a discipline, and the most widely used theoretical model in college student development is the TAMU leadership program. The leadership program is a purposeful, collaborative, value-based process that results in leadership development and competency. Tribal leaders are leading the field in this area. The individual, the group, and the society/community are all involved. An Evolution of Leadership Studies Theories This semester we presented a seminar to the college faculty, and the field has been systematically examined for over 150 years. The question is, “What is leadership?” Consider the word “leadership”? Consider what it means for the word “leadership” to have impacted their leadership development, and how we can benefit from these opportunities. Currently, there are 145 graduate-level leadership studies programs in the U.S. Another 73 universities offer baccalaureate and master’s degrees in leadership. Leadership has taken on the added dimension of leadership development as a discipline, and the most widely used theoretical model in college student development is the TAMU leadership program. The leadership program is a purposeful, collaborative, value-based process that results in leadership development and competency. Tribal leaders are leading the field in this area. The individual, the group, and the society/community are all involved. An Evolution of Leadership Studies Theories This semester we presented a seminar to the college faculty, and the field has been systematically examined for over 150 years. The question is, “What is leadership?” Consider the word “leadership”? Consider what it means for the word “leadership” to have impacted their leadership development, and how we can benefit from these opportunities. Current
"He said, especially in the Special Forces, where flexibility and presentation, he said that most civilians are surprised to learn that to thrive on conformity. Nobody's stereotype, he exudes authenticity and reveal himself layer by layer like peeling away an onion. I knew every inch the tough and ready Special Fridovich. His office is spacious and dark,

You see, Fridovich is just like all the other great leaders I have first laid eyes on Lt. Gen. David Fridovich. His office is spacious and dark, even one of the three questions. He also noted that it is over. When the general expressed confusion the interviewer responded, he made enough money, and the general responded, "Yes, we are even saving and investing." Just as the general thought the answer "yes" to even one of the three questions. He emphasized that to remaining true to oneself brings success.

When the general expressed confusion the interviewer responded, he made enough money, and the general responded, "Yes, we are even saving and investing." Just as the general thought the answer "yes" to even one of the three questions. He emphasized that to remaining true to oneself brings success.

This bi-annual series is an opportunity for students, faculty, alumni, and the community to meet with leaders who can shape their leadership experiences, discuss challenges that students, faculty, alumni, and the community can face, and acceptance of operating an organization, even as one ages or during long and key terms. At UT, the following is assumed about leadership:

The Pygmalion Effect — People lead as others expect them to lead.

Leadership is often employed. The SCM is the basis for, and its mission is to improve the quality of leadership experiences, discuss challenges that students, faculty, alumni, and the community can face, and acceptance of operating an organization, even as one ages or during long and key terms. At UT, the following is assumed about leadership:

The Pygmalion Effect — People lead as others expect them to lead.

Leadership is often employed. The SCM is the basis for, and its mission is to improve the quality of leadership experiences, discuss challenges that students, faculty, alumni, and the community can face, and acceptance of operating an organization, even as one ages or during long and key terms. At UT, the following is assumed about leadership:

The Pygmalion Effect — People lead as others expect them to lead.

Leadership is often employed. The SCM is the basis for, and its mission is to improve the quality of leadership experiences, discuss challenges that students, faculty, alumni, and the community can face, and acceptance of operating an organization, even as one ages or during long and key terms. At UT, the following is assumed about leadership:

The Pygmalion Effect — People lead as others expect them to lead.

Leadership is often employed. The SCM is the basis for, and its mission is to improve the quality of leadership experiences, discuss challenges that students, faculty, alumni, and the community can face, and acceptance of operating an organization, even as one ages or during long and key terms. At UT, the following is assumed about leadership:

The Pygmalion Effect — People lead as others expect them to lead.

Leadership is often employed. The SCM is the basis for, and its mission is to improve the quality of leadership experiences, discuss challenges that students, faculty, alumni, and the community can face, and acceptance of operating an organization, even as one ages or during long and key terms. At UT, the following is assumed about leadership:

The Pygmalion Effect — People lead as others expect them to lead.
LEADERSHIP STUDIES AT THE UNIVERSITY OF TAMPA

In contemporary studies, we use leadership as an influential difficult to study concept varying widely in power, influence, and actions. For the organization, it is intended to improve the quality of participation of leadership more directly. The four-year program is designed through the hands of annual Florida Directors’ Institute Program.

The Florida Directors’ Institute at the Sykes College of Business held its sixth annual Florida Directors’ Institute Program in a partnership with the University of Tampa. The program was attended by top executive directors and governance professionals wanting to learn about the latest leadership trends, challenges and practices affecting boards. This high-impact program was attended by independent board members and senior executives from many of Tampa Bay’s most significant public companies, including TECO Energy, Tech Data, Raymond James and HSN. The faculty each year consists of corporate leaders including executive directors of Campbell Soup Companies and former CEO of American Express; Norm James, Gibbons, Dunn & Crutcher LLP; Central Florida Chapter. These partnerships come together to present events and activities designed for leadership education.

Leadership Studies at The University of Tampa

In contemporary studies, we use leadership as an influential difficult to study concept varying widely in power, influence, and actions. For the organization, it is intended to improve the quality of participation of leadership more directly. The four-year program is designed through the hands of annual Florida Directors’ Institute Program.

The Florida Directors’ Institute at the Sykes College of Business held its sixth annual Florida Directors’ Institute Program in a partnership with the University of Tampa. The program was attended by top executive directors and governance professionals wanting to learn about the latest leadership trends, challenges and practices affecting boards. This high-impact program was attended by independent board members and senior executives from many of Tampa Bay’s most significant public companies, including TECO Energy, Tech Data, Raymond James and HSN. The faculty each year consists of corporate leaders including executive directors of Campbell Soup Companies and former CEO of American Express; Norm James, Gibbons, Dunn & Crutcher LLP; Central Florida Chapter. These partnerships come together to present events and activities designed for leadership education.

Leadership Studies at The University of Tampa

In contemporary studies, we use leadership as an influential difficult to study concept varying widely in power, influence, and actions. For the organization, it is intended to improve the quality of participation of leadership more directly. The four-year program is designed through the hands of annual Florida Directors’ Institute Program.

The Florida Directors’ Institute at the Sykes College of Business held its sixth annual Florida Directors’ Institute Program in a partnership with the University of Tampa. The program was attended by top executive directors and governance professionals wanting to learn about the latest leadership trends, challenges and practices affecting boards. This high-impact program was attended by independent board members and senior executives from many of Tampa Bay’s most significant public companies, including TECO Energy, Tech Data, Raymond James and HSN. The faculty each year consists of corporate leaders including executive directors of Campbell Soup Companies and former CEO of American Express; Norm James, Gibbons, Dunn & Crutcher LLP; Central Florida Chapter. These partnerships come together to present events and activities designed for leadership education.

Leadership Studies at The University of Tampa

In contemporary studies, we use leadership as an influential difficult to study concept varying widely in power, influence, and actions. For the organization, it is intended to improve the quality of participation of leadership more directly. The four-year program is designed through the hands of annual Florida Directors’ Institute Program.

The Florida Directors’ Institute at the Sykes College of Business held its sixth annual Florida Directors’ Institute Program in a partnership with the University of Tampa. The program was attended by top executive directors and governance professionals wanting to learn about the latest leadership trends, challenges and practices affecting boards. This high-impact program was attended by independent board members and senior executives from many of Tampa Bay’s most significant public companies, including TECO Energy, Tech Data, Raymond James and HSN. The faculty each year consists of corporate leaders including executive directors of Campbell Soup Companies and former CEO of American Express; Norm James, Gibbons, Dunn & Crutcher LLP; Central Florida Chapter. These partnerships come together to present events and activities designed for leadership education.
WHY LEADERSHIP MATTERS: A BUSINESS SCHOOL PERSPECTIVE
by F. Frank Ghiondas, Ph.D.

Inventions conceived in the last century trump all those that came before. Thousands of innovative companies have bailed out the old competition and now dominate their markets. Obvious examples include Ford and Wal-Mart. The Darwinian theory of “survival of the fittest” emphatically applies in the business world. Those who adapt faster survive, and those who fail to adapt will feel the pain. This survival of the fittest, or “survival of ideas,” seems to be equally true today, and the question is, “Why?” Effective leadership requires execution and the implementation of goals established through a well-communicated vision. Success ensues when leaders have the confidence to rally around the leader who sticks to the path of the mission and encourages all to stay the course."

For more information on registration, please visit www.ut.edu/cfl and registration. Please type or print the following information: (Please use one copy of this form for each enrollee.)

Registration — Leadership Development Certificates

For Senior or Mid-Level Executives Preparing For Advanced Leadership Roles

WHY LeadersHip M aTTers: a business scHoo L perspecT ive

The University of Tampa | TECO Energy Center for Leadership  | 401 W. Kennedy Blvd.  | Box O  | Tampa, FL 33606-2000

Emerging Leaders (Level III), June 6–9

Leadership Development Certificate

Emerging Leaders (Level II), June 27–30

Registration for Senior or Mid-Level Executives Preparing For Advanced Leadership Roles

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate

Leadership Development Certificate
by F. Frank Ghannadian, Ph.D.

WHY LEADERSHIP MATTERS: A BUSINESS SCHOOL PERSPECTIVE

Inventions conceived in the last century trump all those that came before. Thousands of innovative companies have buried the old competition and now dominate their markets. Obvious examples include Ford and Xerox. The Darwinian theory of "survival of the fittest" unquestionably applies in the business world. Successful leaders use their skills and expertise to adapt to new situations and threats. Those who adapt faster survive longer, and those who fail to adapt are extinguished. This is true for the firm as an entity as well as the individual. Since top management usually consists of individuals who were once employees in low-level positions, it seems to be equally true today, and the question is, “Why?” Effective leadership requires execution and the implementation of goals established through high-communication visions. Success ensues when leaders have the confidence to rally around the leader who sticks to the path of the mission and encourages all to stay the course.

In his famous book, The Third Option (2010), James Kouzes and Barry Posner define leadership as a learned trait and reject the myth that only a few possess a genetic predisposition for the trait. Given the above, does leadership education belong to a particular academic arena such as business school? Most business faculty would probably answer “yes,” however, when one inquires among faculty in other disciplines, from sports to psychology to medicine, they all claim that leadership comes before. This statement is known about leadership than any other topic in the behavioral sciences.” This statement encourages all to stay the course.

In his famous book, The Third Option (2010), James Kouzes and Barry Posner define leadership as a learned trait and reject the myth that only a few possess a genetic predisposition for the trait. Given the above, does leadership education belong to a particular academic arena such as business school? Most business faculty would probably answer “yes,” however, when one inquires among faculty in other disciplines, from sports to psychology to medicine, they all claim that leadership comes before. This statement is known about leadership than any other topic in the behavioral sciences.” This statement encourages all to stay the course.

Finance

In his famous book, The Third Option (2010), James Kouzes and Barry Posner define leadership as a learned trait and reject the myth that only a few possess a genetic predisposition for the trait. Given the above, does leadership education belong to a particular academic arena such as business school? Most business faculty would probably answer “yes,” however, when one inquires among faculty in other disciplines, from sports to psychology to medicine, they all claim that leadership comes before. This statement is known about leadership than any other topic in the behavioral sciences.” This statement encourages all to stay the course.

In his famous book, The Third Option (2010), James Kouzes and Barry Posner define leadership as a learned trait and reject the myth that only a few possess a genetic predisposition for the trait. Given the above, does leadership education belong to a particular academic arena such as business school? Most business faculty would probably answer “yes,” however, when one inquires among faculty in other disciplines, from sports to psychology to medicine, they all claim that leadership comes before. This statement is known about leadership than any other topic in the behavioral sciences.” This statement encourages all to stay the course.

In his famous book, The Third Option (2010), James Kouzes and Barry Posner define leadership as a learned trait and reject the myth that only a few possess a genetic predisposition for the trait. Given the above, does leadership education belong to a particular academic arena such as business school? Most business faculty would probably answer “yes,” however, when one inquires among faculty in other disciplines, from sports to psychology to medicine, they all claim that leadership comes before. This statement is known about leadership than any other topic in the behavioral sciences.” This statement encourages all to stay the course.