UT/UM Leadership Exchange
Leadership in Action

Overview
Beginning this fall, the Office of Student Leadership and Engagement will be partnering with the University of Memphis (UM) to offer a brand new leadership exchange initiative. Participants will engage in a six-month exploration of leadership, service, and the social issues of homelessness and poverty as they exist in Tampa, Memphis, nationally, and worldwide. Student partnerships will be made and, through these collaborative relationships, a team project focused on homelessness will be completed.

Participation with the UT/UM Leadership Exchange will develop student’s understanding of self, the social issues surrounding homelessness, and the “7 Revolutions” document, a publication of the Center for Strategic and International Studies that aims to predict what the world will look like in 2025. Students will complete a series of leadership sessions related to these areas over the six month long experience. In addition to connecting with the UM students through various virtual communication platforms like Skype, Facebook, and Go To Webinar, students will interact on immersion weekends in Tampa and Memphis.

Leadership Exchange Objectives
- Students will build relationships with students from another institution
- Students will develop a better understanding of self
- Students will develop a better understanding of the social issues of homelessness and poverty
- Students will engage in an immersion project focused on homelessness and poverty
- Students will learn how to effectively work within a team in a very autonomous environment

Who can apply to participate?
We are seeking open-minded individuals looking for a unique experience to challenge themselves both as leaders and individuals. Preference will be given to students with freshmen, sophomore or junior class standing, but any interested student should apply. Successful students will be creative, self-starters with a sincere commitment to this program. This is not a credited course, but participants will meet approximately twice a month with minimal reading/assignments required including one team project with a student from the other institution.

In an attempt to keep costs to a minimum, students will stay with their partner from the other institution during their visits: Please make sure this is acceptable to you and your roommates before applying!

Applications should be submitted to the Office of Student Leadership and Engagement by October 24th. Complete applications should include:
- Participant Application
- Essay Questions
- Co-curricular Transcript

Please note: There is a $125 participation fee to participate. This will be due at the October 28th meeting.
