Arts Infusion Cohort 2010: Focus on Creativity in the Learning Environment and Infusing Arts Into the Curriculum

Applications are now being accepted for our 2010 Graduate Cohorts

Significant scholarship support through the Untie the Right Brain grant from the Florida Department of Education is available on a competitive basis to students admitted to the M.Ed. program beginning in June, 2010. Candidates for both Track 1 and Track 2 of the M.Ed. program are eligible. Applicants must have a strong commitment to infusing the arts into their teaching and to coaching their colleagues in the use of “right brain” teaching strategies. Applicants will be notified by May 15, 2010. Pending renewal of the grant for July 2010-June 2011, Untie the Right Brain will offer additional tuition support for teachers already in the program.

Untie the Right Brain at the University of Tampa is a 13-18 month program designed to demonstrate how arts content and pedagogy can enrich teachers’ professional knowledge and teaching strategies across the curriculum and provide new tools to energize student learning. Successful applicants to the program will commit to becoming an “arts coach” for their colleagues. Coaching methods may take a variety of forms, including face-to-face and online.

Successful completion of the program, including all graduate coursework, results in a master’s degree.

Please answer the following questions, using as much space as you need. Attach an additional sheet if necessary.

What do you hope to gain from a program that uses arts content and pedagogy to develop your teaching knowledge and skills?

If you are already in school, how will you use your arts-infused program in your classroom and with your colleagues?

If you are preparing to be a teacher, how have you experienced arts-infused learning in your education to date? How do you expect to use arts-infused learning in the curricular area for which you are pursuing certification?
What unique qualities do you bring to the program?
