Susan Dellinger

Title: President

Company: Susan Dellinger & Associates

Susan Dellinger is a communications specialist who has developed a system of analyzing personality types that has been used by numerous corporations to improve communications. She earned her BS in Education from the University of Indiana and taught high school for six years. She returned to school to earn a MEd from the University of Florida and then a Ph.D in Speech Communications from the University of Colorado. She served as a faculty member at the University of Oregon and taught at the University of South Florida part time.

In 1984, Dr. Dellinger started her own business. A designer and provider of training services, Susan Dellinger & Associates provides services on such “soft skills” subjects as: interpersonal and group communications, leadership, diversity and team building. She is the creator and owner of Psycho-Geometrics® is a system of communication style analysis that has been presented by Dr. Dellinger and her 30 licensed consultants over a period of 30 years in 24 countries. Dellinger is also the author of three books; Communicating Beyond Our Differences: Introducing the Psycho-Geometrics® System; Psycho-Geometrics®: The Art of Influencing People; and Communicating Effectively: A Complete Guide to Better Managing. In her work with organizations she has facilitated corporate communications, team-building, customer/client relationships, integrations in mergers and acquisitions, diversity issues, and gender-based communication differences.

Dr. Dellinger is also the author of Red Legs And Black Sox: Edd Roush And The Untold Story Of The 1919 World Series, a book she wrote about her grandfather. She is a member of the Athena Society.