THE UNIVERSITY OF TAMPA

Nonprofit Management:

- Certificate Program
- MBA Concentration

The Sykes College of Business draws together talented faculty, sophisticated technology and cutting-edge curriculum to provide students with the tools to succeed in a changing world. Highly qualified students of diverse ages and backgrounds receive advanced training in an array of disciplines, including nonprofit management. Offered in two formats, the nonprofit management program prepares current and rising nonprofit professionals to be strategic and innovative. Above, Amy Harris (right), director of the nonprofit management program and graduate business programs, talks with student Tammy Charles, senior manager of corporate relations at Metropolitan Ministries.

Nonprofit Heart. Business Mind. Leader's Spirit.

UT and the Nonprofit Leadership Center of Tampa Bay have partnered to offer a graduate-level education designed to enhance the knowledge and skills of current and emerging nonprofit executives. Graduate business faculty together with leading nonprofit practitioners teach courses that aim to strengthen current nonprofit managers and train the rising generation of industry leaders.

The program offers a certificate in nonprofit management — a great option for current social sector organization leaders in the Tampa Bay area — or an MBA concentration. The curriculum focuses on effective board governance, strategic planning, marketing, fund development, financial management, tapping leadership potential and business plan development.

Course Highlights

- Thinking Strategically
- Financial Management
- Marketing and Fund Development
- Leadership and Innovation

Enrollment Options

1. Certificate

Students complete four graduate-level courses, delivered as intensive one-week programs representing 12 credit hours. Graduates are awarded a certificate in nonprofit management.

2. MBA Concentration

Students in the MBA program take four one-week courses (12 credit hours) in nonprofit management during their degree program.

Internationally Recognized Program

The Sykes College of Business is accredited at the undergraduate and graduate levels by AACSB International (the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business), an honor held by only six percent of business schools worldwide. It is rated a top graduate business school in the U.S. by Bloomberg Businessweek, and since 2007 has been named among the best business schools in the world by The Princeton Review.

alumnus profile

Clara Reynolds, LCSW, MBA
President/CEO, Crisis Center of Tampa Bay

“UT’s nonprofit management program is truly a ‘must have’ for any nonprofit executive director, CEO or aspiring leader. Like many in the field, I became an executive director due to my program and clinical experience, not my business acumen. UT’s program provided me the knowledge base and skill sets to successfully run a nonprofit business. You’ve got to know how to run a business if you’re going to run a nonprofit organization. UT understands that, and provides students with opportunities to work with other nonprofits, meet with nonprofit leaders and get connected with mentors. I know I wouldn’t be standing where I am today if I had not gone through UT’s program.”

Scholarships and Financial Aid

The Nonprofit Leadership Center of Tampa Bay awards scholarships each year to qualified candidates. The award amount equals half the cost of the program (tuition, program fees and books, with the total being applied directly to tuition costs).

A variety of financial aid is available for UT graduate students, including other scholarships, grants and loans. Learn more at ut.edu/graduatefinancialaid. For more information about tuition and costs, visit ut.edu/tuition.

Student Connections

All graduate students in the Sykes College of Business are considered members of the UT Graduate Organization of Leadership Development (UT GOLD), which offers a variety of events, activities and opportunities aimed at fostering relationships both professionally and personally, on campus and in the community.

Career Advancement

UT’s Office of Career Services offers excellent advisory services to students, helping them prepare effective résumés, find internships and apply for positions in the Tampa Bay area and beyond.

Graduate students and alumni have free, lifetime access to a variety of tools and networks to help advance their careers. This includes Handshake, a specialized online resource for UT students and alumni that posts job openings from companies and organizations looking for well-qualified candidates.
