

REID HANEY

Reid is a Shareholder with the Tampa law firm of Hill Ward Henderson, practicing in the firm's Corporate & Tax and Healthcare Groups. His areas of practice include general corporate and business law, corporate transactions, securities, healthcare and franchising law. He advises clients in a wide range of matters including general corporate and business-related matters, mergers & acquisitions, joint ventures, private equity and other types of corporate finance transactions, succession planning, equity-based compensation, healthcare-related transactions and healthcare regulatory issues, and franchising.

A substantial part of his practice focuses on privately-held businesses, advising them from formation and early-stage development, through growth and capital raising, strategic acquisitions and other transactions, succession planning and exit strategies. His healthcare practice includes corporate and transactional matters, as well as Stark, anti-kickback, state and federally licensing, and other regulatory issues. Reid represents clients in diverse industries, including healthcare, manufacturing, financial services, technology, real estate development, restaurants, hospitality, private utilities and technology.

In addition to his Bar memberships, Reid is involved in numerous business and civic activities. Reid currently serves as Chairman of the Advisory Board for The University of Tampa's Lowth Entrepreneurship Center and Chairman of the Board for Leadership Tampa Alumni. He is a long-time member of the Association for Corporate Growth and The University of Tampa Board of Fellows. Reid helped found the Florida Institute of Chief Financial Officers and also previously served on The University of Tampa Board of Trustees, as well as the Boards of Directors of the Museum of Science and Industry and Tampa Bay Businesses for Culture and the Arts.

Reid is married with four children, and he enjoys sports, reading and music.