

Reid Haney
Shareholder
Hill Ward Henderson

Reid is a Shareholder in the firm's Corporate & Tax and Healthcare Groups where his areas of practice include corporate, securities, healthcare and franchising law. He advises clients in a wide range of areas including general corporate and business-related matters, mergers & acquisitions, private equity and other types of corporate finance transactions, succession planning, equity-based compensation, healthcare-related transactions, and healthcare regulatory issues. Another significant area of Reid's practice includes counseling clients on franchise matters. Reid has represented both public and private companies on a wide range of corporate and other business matters; however, a substantial part of his practice focuses on privately-held businesses, advising them from formation and early-stage, through growth and capital raising, strategic acquisitions and other transactions, and succession planning. His healthcare practice includes corporate and transactional matters, as well as Stark, antikickback, state and federally licensing, and other regulatory issues. Reid represents clients in diverse industries, including healthcare, manufacturing, financial services, technology, real estate development, restaurants, hospitality, private utilities and technology. In addition to his Bar memberships, Reid is involved in business and civic activities. Reid serves on the Board of Directors, Executive Committee and Governance Committee of the Museum of Science and Industry and the Board of Directors and Executive Committee of Tampa Bay Businesses for Culture and the Arts. He is a past member of the University of Tampa Board of Trustees and currently sits on the Steering Committee for the University of Tampa Board of Fellows. In addition, Reid is a member of the Advisory Board for the University of Tampa Center for Entrepreneurship. Reid also helped found the Florida Institute of Chief Financial officers and is a member of Leadership Tampa Alumni. Reid is married, with four children. He also enjoys sports, reading and music.
