

Lowell Adams

Lowell Adams is the Assistant Principal Cellist of the Florida Orchestra, Associate Artist Instructor of Cello at the University of Tampa, and the Principal Cellist of the Lake George Opera in Saratoga Springs, NY. He was an Artist-in-Residence with the Esterhazy Quartet at the University of Missouri-Columbia, and was a member of the Saint Louis Symphony Orchestra for the 1996-97 season. His education includes B.M., and M.M. Degrees from Northern Illinois University, where he studied with the Vermeer Quartet, and the Artist's Diploma from the Hartt School of Music, where he was a student of Raya Garbousova. He is an active teacher and guest clinician in Tampa Bay schools, and is a founding member of the Florida Cello Club.