Policy for Reporting the Annual Disclosure of Crime Statistics

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act (Clery Act) is a federal law passed in 1990, which requires all colleges and universities who receive federal funding to share information about crime on campus and their efforts to improve campus safety as well as inform the public of crime in or around campus.

The Department of Campus Safety prepares the annual Crime Statistics Report to comply with the Clery Act. This report is prepared in cooperation with local law enforcement agencies surrounding The University of Tampa main campus, Office of Operations and Planning, Office of Residence Life, Office of Student Conduct and the Division of Student Affairs. Each entity provides updated information on their educational efforts and programs to comply with the Clery Act. Three years' worth of statistics are included for certain types of crimes that were reported to have occurred on campus, in or on off-campus buildings or property owned or controlled by The University and on public property within or immediately adjacent to the campus. The full text of the Crime Statistics Report can be found at ut.edu/safety. Paper copies of the Crime Statistics Report are available from the Department of Campus Safety.

Student Disability Services

The Office of Student Conduct complies with federal disability law. Students in need of accommodations to participate in any student conduct or sexual misconduct and relationship violence procedures can contact Student Disability Services.

Title IX Compliance

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 protects individuals from discrimination based on sex in any educational program or activity operated by recipients of federal financial assistance. Title IX prohibits gender discrimination and sexual harassment which includes acts of sexual violence.

The University of Tampa is committed to providing an environment free from discrimination based on sex and provides a number of resources and services to assist students, faculty and staff in addressing all aspects of discrimination including issues involving gender discrimination, sexual harassment, sexual misconduct and relationship violence, including sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence and stalking. The University of Tampa will provide written notification to students and employees about existing counseling, victim advocacy, legal assistance, visa and immigration assistance, student financial aid and other services available for victims, both within the institution and in the community. Students are prohibited from conduct that violates Title IX under the University Title IX Sexual Harassment Policy and Grievance Procedures.

Non-Confidential Reports

All employees of The University (including staff, faculty, and University officials) that are not considered confidential employees and certain student workers are considered responsible employees. For more information regarding non-confidential reporting, please see the definition of Responsible Employee listed in the Student Code of Conduct Definitions section.

Confidential Reports

The University designates members of the staff or faculty to serve as confidential employees for reports of sexual misconduct and relationship violence. Confidential employees such as Victim Advocate(s) or University Counselors are obligated to withhold personally identifiable information of sexual misconduct and relationship violence reported by a student, unless consent is given by the student to whom they are providing services.

Reports of Title IX Sexual Harassment and Other Related University Policies

The University encourages anyone who believes they have experienced Title IX sexual harassment, sexual misconduct and/or relationship violence to make a report to the Department of Campus Safety if the misconduct or violence occurred on campus, or to local law enforcement, for misconduct occurring off campus as soon as possible. Collection and preservation of evidence relating to the reported Title IX sexual harassment, sexual misconduct and/or relationship violence is essential for law enforcement investigations, so prompt reporting of the incident to law enforcement is critical.

Designated University staff will, upon request, assist individual(s) in making reports to the Department of Campus Safety and/or appropriate law enforcement agency. For reports of off-campus sexual misconduct and/or relationship violence, the Department of Campus Safety will assist in identifying the appropriate jurisdictional law enforcement agency to assist in filing the report.

If a report of Title IX sexual harassment, sexual misconduct and/or relationship violence is made directly to the Title IX Coordinator or designee, which may also constitute a crime, the Title IX Coordinator or designee will notify the Department of Campus Safety to ensure appropriate distribution of University-wide warnings, if needed, and maintenance of accurate reporting statistics.

Please note individuals who have experienced Title IX sexual harassment, sexual misconduct and/or relationship violence may decline to make a report to a law enforcement agency.

Assumption of Good Faith Reporting

The University presumes that reports of Title IX sexual harassment, sexual misconduct and/or relationship violence are made in good faith. A finding that the reported incident does not constitute a violation of the Title IX Sexual Harassment Policy and/or Sexual Misconduct and Relationship Violence Policy, or that there is insufficient evidence to conclude that the incident occurred as reported, does not mean that the report was made in bad faith. The University encourages all individuals who have experienced or witnessed behavior they believe violates the Title IX Sexual Harassment Policy and Sexual Misconduct and Relationship Violence Policy to report the matter so that it may be addressed, without fear of consequences from the University.

Victim Advocacy

The University of Tampa offers victim advocacy services to any student who has been the victim of a violent crime. The program is staffed with trained advocates who are designated by the Office of the Attorney General in the state of Florida to provide victim services. An advocate may be contacted during the fall and spring semesters through the victim advocate hotline (813) 257-3900 or by contacting the Department of Campus Safety. During summer terms or between academic terms, advocates may be contacted solely through the Department of Campus Safety. You may always contact an advocate by e-mailing victimadvocacy@ut.edu.

Obligations of Membership in the University Community

The trustees, faculty and administration of The University of Tampa are dedicated to cultivating a community that is committed to honesty, citizenship, inclusion, respect, responsibility and life-long learning.

It is expected that all members of the University community will obey the law, adhere to the Student Code of Conduct, and conduct themselves in a manner that is consistent with a community of scholars. In the event that members of the University community fall short of that expectation, fair conduct procedures have been developed to protect the interests of the University and University community. The trustees affirm the ability of the University to protect its interests within the University community. The president of the University or his or her representative has the discretion to suspend or remove any student, registered student organization, visitor, guest, or other member of the University community whose presence is believed to be contrary to the best interests of the University community.

Student Code of Conduct

All students are to conduct themselves in accordance with the Student Code of Conduct. Students and any officially registered student organization at the University, as a condition of admission, agree to abide by all University policies contained in the University catalog, the Student Code of Conduct, and other University publications and notices.

The University of Tampa has established policies that are considered necessary to preserve and maintain an environment conducive to learning, to ensure the safety and welfare of members of the University community, to encourage students in the development and practice of good citizenship, and to protect property and the environment of The University.

The University of Tampa expects that its students and registered student organizations will conduct themselves as responsible citizens as articulated in the Student Code of Conduct and will comply with all established University policies and all applicable state and federal laws. The University of Tampa reserves the right to discipline any student or remove affiliation with any registered student organization whose conduct on or off campus violates the Student Code of Conduct. This includes conduct that would impair, interfere with, or obstruct the mission, processes or functions of The University of Tampa.

Procedures under this Student Code of Conduct may be carried out before, simultaneously with or following a civil or criminal proceeding on or off campus. Sanctions may be imposed against a student or registered student organization for the violation of any Student Code of Conduct policies that occurs on or off campus. Sanctions are intended to be developmental and educational in scope and are determined at the sole discretion of The University.

The University recognizes that all violations of University policies documented in a student's conduct file are part of that student's educational record. The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) of 1974 that provides confidentiality of students' educational records and protects these files and their contents. This confidentiality allows only persons who meet appropriate disclosure requirements to have access to these records. When conduct involves a crime of violence or sex offense, FERPA permits the University, at its discretion, to disclose to the complainant the final results of a disciplinary proceeding against the alleged perpetrator.

For more information regarding FERPA contact The University of Tampa Registrar's Office. For more information related to the student conduct record retention policy contact the Office of Student Conduct.

The determination of whether a person is incapacitated is objectively based on what a reasonable person exercising good judgement should have and/or would have known about the condition of the incapacitated party. This includes incapacitation due to alcohol or drug consumption, illness, being asleep or unconscious, or any other reason that the individual is physically or mentally unable to form or communicate consent.

Consent is defined as an informed, voluntary, and mutual agreement. Consent can be withdrawn at any time and there is no consent when there is force, expressed or implied, or when coercion, intimidation, or duress is used. Consent cannot be given by a person who is incapacitated.
